Foes Pound on Theme 'Barry Can't Win'

Cite Candidate's 'Admission' In Magazine Interview

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's backers hammered at Sen. Barry Goldwater's towering claim on the GOP presidential nomination with a can't-win assault today, as prospects for a civil rights fight dwindled.

Goldwater's declaration in an interview published in a German news magazine that "as of now" no Republican could defeat President Johnson was described by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., as an admission that the Arizona senator is resigned to losing in November if he becomes the GOP presidential nominee at next week's convention.

Scott, campaign director for the Pennsylvania governor, told a news conference Tuesday that "I'm afraid they (the Goldwater backers) don't really believe they can win."

"You can't give up before the campaign starts," Scott said. Governor Scranton believes that he can beat President Johnson. He has won before against odds and he'll win again."

Goldwater said in the interview that, as of today, no other Republican had a chance of defeating Johnson in the South. He added that while he wasn't saying that he could do so at the moment, "come election day there is going to be another horse race." He made it clear in this respect that he was speaking not only of the South but the nation at large.

Scranton, scheduled to arrive here for a mid-afternoon airport rally and news conference, said before he left Chicago that Goldwater's people are using "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination away from him.

Appearing on a national NBC television program, the Pennsylvania governor said: "They are trying to create a political steamroller unparalleled for its toughness, its callousness, its total disregard for the opinion of rank and file Republicans."

Contending that "every survey taken" shows he is pre-

3 Persons Are Killed In Akron Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Three persons in a compact car headed for a baby shower were killed in a collision with a station wagon bearing a family on its way home from the same party. Nine other persons were injured.

The head-on smashup occurred Tuesday night on the knoll of a dirt road a quarter-mile from where the shower was being held. The sheriff's office said the two families did not know each other.

One of the dead, Herschel Gruic, 22, of Cuyahoga Falls, was pinned in the wreckage of the small car he was driving in Northampton Twp.

Also killed were Gruic's mother, Ethel, 47, and his grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Redinger, 70, both of Lakemore in Summit County.

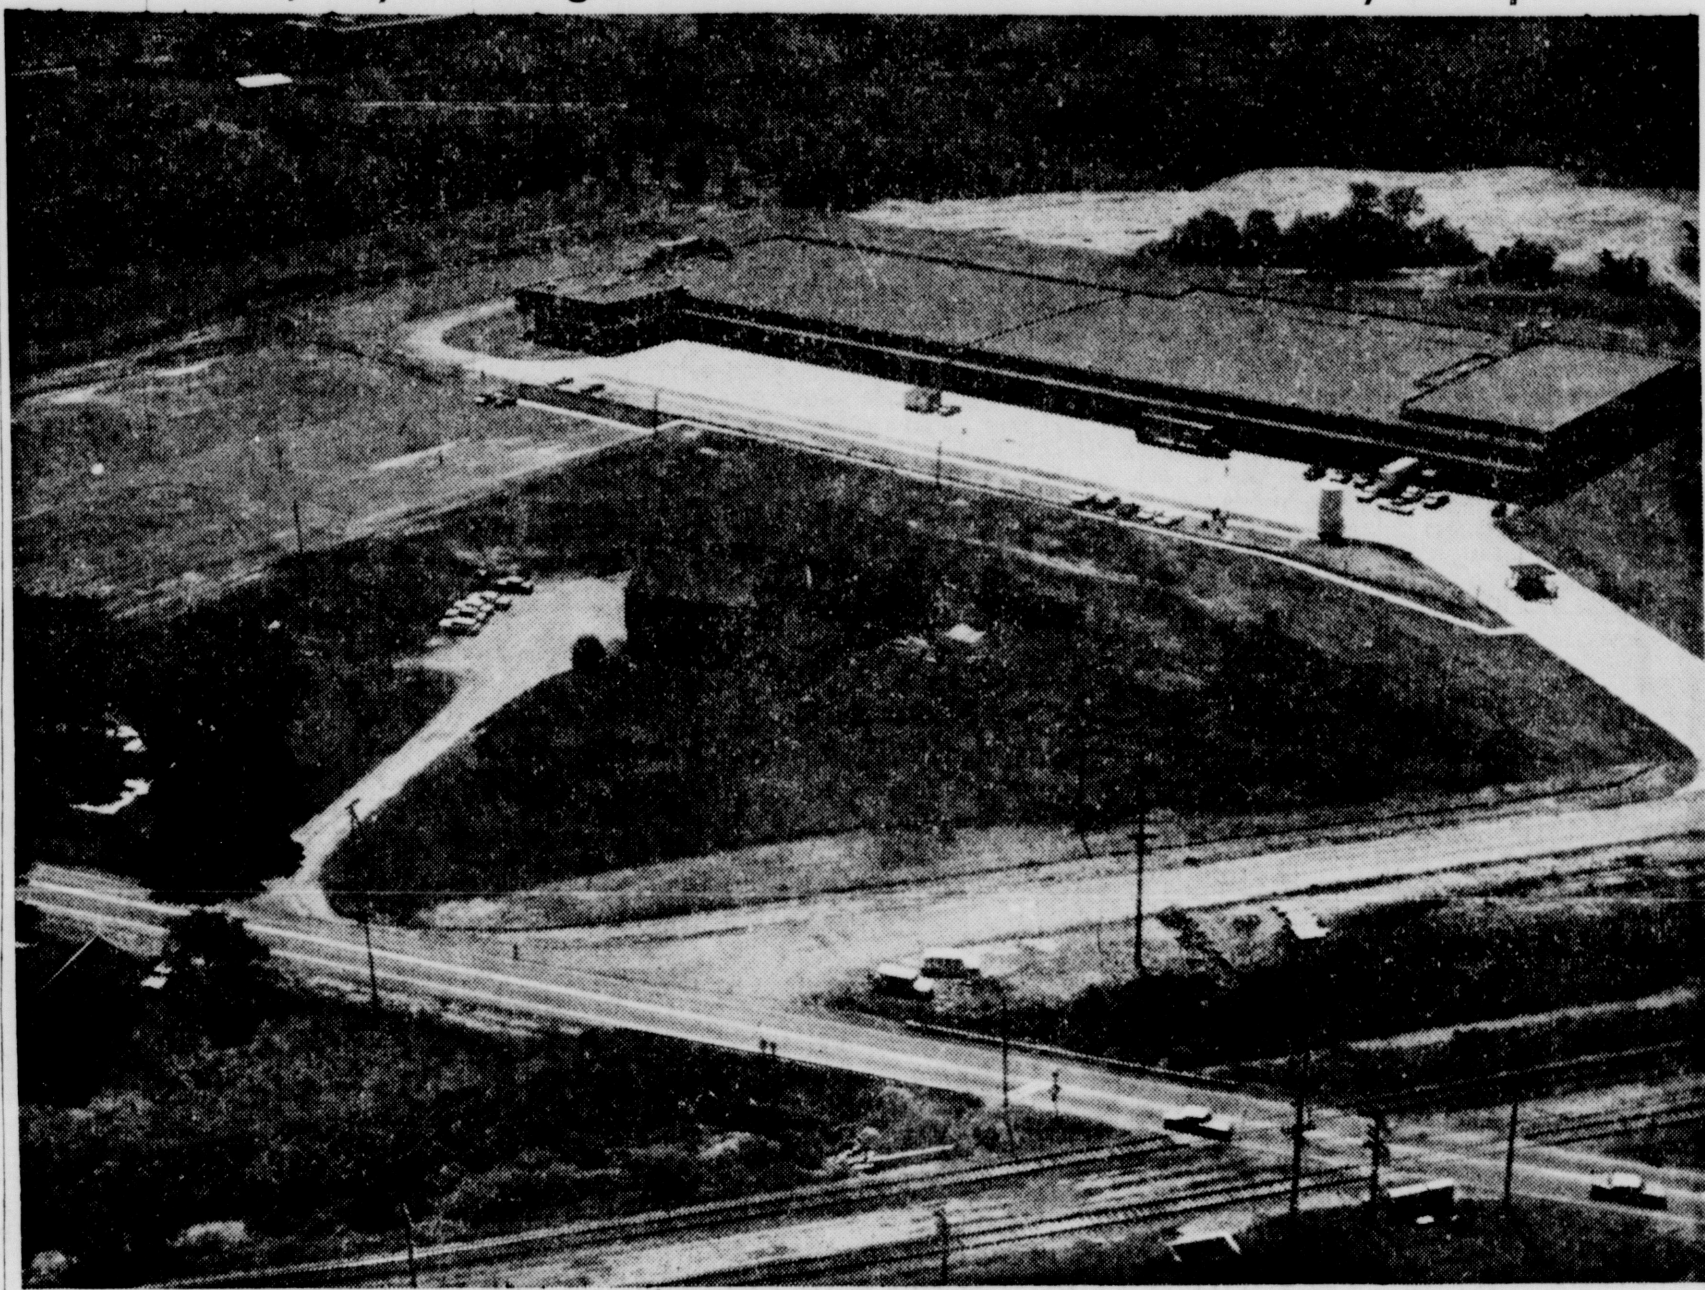

Gruic's wife, Cathy, 19, was reported in critical condition at Akron General Hospital with a broken jaw. His brother, Nick, 18, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Gruic, a baker, and his wife had been married since February.

Bruce Barker, 32, was driving a station wagon bearing his wife, Jacqueline, also 32, and their five children, ages 2 to 13. All the Barkers, who live in Peninsula, escaped with minor injuries.

"I guess the good Lord was looking after those children," said a deputy at the accident scene. "Those vehicles were a mess."

A&P Company's Refrigerated Warehouse Here Is Nearly Completed

This picture, taken from a State Highway Department helicopter, shows the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's new $3 million refrigerated warehouse and meat processing plant at the south edge of Salem.

The plant, rapidly nearing completion, borders the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and the Rt. 45 Lisbon Road which the state plans to improve by widening from the Salem corporation line south to the Pigeon Rd. The concrete apron leading to the A&P warehouse and alongside it extends from the county's new road paralleling the railroad. It will be paved by fall.

A&P officials still can not pinpoint a date for the opening of their new facility here, but indications are that it will be sometime in September. Refrigeration units are now being installed.

Warehouse offices are pictured at extreme left corner of plant. Yet to be constructed is a large garage for trucks which will speed meat shipments to A&P stores in several states once the processing gets under way. Employment predictions range from 200 upwards.

Lodge, Romney On GOP Stand

Platform Planks Proposed by Pair

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two prominent Republicans who once figured in speculation for the 1964 presidential nomination tell platform writers today what pledges they think the party should make in the coming campaign.

Henry Cabot Lodge and Gov. George Romney, who say they are not available for the nomination, were the scheduled star witnesses as the GOP platform committee reached mid-point in its pre-convention week of hearings. Thursday and Friday the avowed candidates, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, take the stand.

Lodge's appearance underlined foreign policy in the platform debate after two days of emphasis on civil rights left that issue still unresolved.

The 1960 Republican vice presidential nominee and ambassador to the United Nations during the Eisenhower administration, Lodge resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam last month after nearly a year in the job under the Johnson-Kennedy administrations. He said he was returning to push Scranton for president.

So far foreign policy has not been the bone of much contention among the string of GOP platform witnesses. In general, the Republican speakers have attacked what they label as President Johnson's vacillation and expediency in handling foreign affairs.

Lodge, however, has maintained that the campaign

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

The auto was recovered on E. 5th St. at 4:10 p.m. after a resident reported it had been parked there all day.

Council Dumps Coins Into General Fund

Parking Meter Fund Gone

By LYNN BROWNE

City Council Tuesday night eliminated the parking meter fund and transferred approximately $50,000 from it into the general fund where part of the money will be used to meet payrolls and to balance the city's 1965 budget.

Of the total, $12,000 will be used immediately for payrolls for the rest of this month and another $18,000 will be used to balance the budget for next year.

Normally, the city would borrow the money to meet the payroll figure, but Council feels it would be foolish to borrow money and have to pay interest when the revenue could be transferred.

Harold Asty, chairman of the finance committee, told Council that the '65 budget does not balance by $18,000. He said, however, that with the elimination of the parking meter fund, it will merely take some legal maneuvering and transferring of funds to balance it.

Asty, Solicitor Thomas Coe and Charles Gibbs, a member of the finance committee, were to meet with City Auditor Helen Coyne in her office at City Hall this morning to work further on the budget.

The parking meter fund was established in 1962 and "earmarked" all monies collected from the meters for use in purchase and repair of meters as well as upkeep and retirement of bonds for the municipal parking lots.

With the elimination of the parking meter fund, all money received from them will now automatically go into the general fund.

Facing Council now is the problem of how to save for the city the $20,000 left over from the monies transferred out of the parking meter fund. If the money is left in the general fund and is not spent by the end of the year, it has to be

Four Hurt In Road Mishaps

Kensington Woman Is Hospitalized

A Kensington motorist and her passenger were injured at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday on Rt. 30, two and two-tenths miles east of Minerva, when their car failed to negotiate a curve and struck highway markers and a utility pole.

Taken to Alliance City Hospital were Janet Coleman, 25, of Kensington and Christine Wolf, 19, of Minerva. Miss Coleman is in fairly good condition with contusions of the chest and abrasions of her left knee. Miss Wolf, who was treated and released, received abrasions of the knee.

The accident is still under investigation by the Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol.

Beverly Sadler, 20, of RD 4, Lisbon, received bruises of the left shoulder and back when she lost control of her auto on a curve on County Road 41, five-tenths miles west of Rt. 45, at 12:30 a.m. today. After skidding to the left and right, the car overturned. Miss Sadler was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

A Roger's motorist also was cited for speed excessive for conditions after his car went off the left side of County Road 933, five-tenths miles north of Rt. 154, and struck a cement culvert. Victor Houser, 41, of Rogers received a bump on the head and was treated by his physician.

Donald Hines, 36, of Minerva was cited for improper passing when he cut in too soon after passing a vehicle driven by Dean Crawford Jr., 31, Minerva, causing a collision. No injuries were reported in the accident on County Road 703, one-tenth mile north of Rt. 30 at 10:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Court Rules In Lisbon Case

The Ohio Supreme Court today upheld state anti-gambling laws, banning the printing and sale of numbers game slips.

The 5-2 decision came in the case involving Lisbon Sales Book Co. and its officers.

Columbiana County Common Pleas Court had held the 1961 act unconstitutional, but an appellate court reversed and said indictments against company officials were valid.

Charged in the printing and sale of "policy" slips were Martin Sufrin, company president; Isadore Sufrin, vice president; Joseph Sufrin, secretary-treasurer, and Michael Scheidmeier, general manager, all of Pittsburgh.

The anti-gambling laws were enacted to combat an estimated $100-million-a-year numbers gambling racket in Ohio. They provide a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and three years in prison.

Officers Face Trial

As a result of today's high court decision, company officials face trial in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court on charges of printing and selling numbers slips.

The officials have been free on $1,000 bond. They were charged after former Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy led a raid on the firm in September 1961.

The quartet was indicted by a Columbiana County grand jury Sep. 21, 1961 for printing numbers books.

Indictments Dismissed

On Dec. 14, 1961 Judge Joel H. Snapp dismissed the indictments, declaring the law as it applied to the manufacturing and printing of numbers slips is unconstitutional because it does not take into consideration intention or knowledge by the manufacturer of the purpose of the slips.

The state attorney's office appealed Judge Sharp's decision to the 7th District Court of Appeals which reversed the Common Pleas Court ruling Feb. 19, 1963.

Graham Plans Ohio Crusade

10-Day Program Set In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The third of Billy Graham's five major evangelistic crusades this year opens Friday in Ohio.

But behind the 10-day program in Columbus' International League baseball stadium lies an advance planning effort dating back to 1960.

And an advance staff—supplemented with hundreds of volunteers—has been at work on details in Ohio's capital city since October. Others have been, or are, doing the same in San Diego, Phoenix, Omaha and Boston this year.

Bill Brown, a husky Philadelphian laying the groundwork for this July 10-19 crusade, says the Graham organization "only comes if we're invited by a majority of local churches."

He estimates with a smile that there must be enough invitations on hand now to keep the Minneapolis-based organization busy "for about a hundred years."

But he adds: "A lot hinges

Committee Members Named

Ohio Apportionment Unit To Begin Task

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-one members of the Ohio legislature, 15 of them attorneys, will go to work on a plan for election of state representatives in areas of equal population.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, announced today the names of apportionment committee members for the far-reaching study. He said they "will be called together" late this month or early in August.

The Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, authorized Cloud at its July 1 meeting to get started on a plan to comply with an equal-population decree by the U.S. Supreme Court for state legislatures.

The high court also reversed a three-judge U.S. District Court in Cincinnati that upheld Ohio's 1903 "Hanna Amendment", allowing each county a representative regardless of population. The district court was directed to reconsider its decision.

Cloud said he expected the "Hanna Amendment" and possibly other portions of Ohio's constitution dealing with apportionment to be knocked out and said a substitute must be found.

Forty-eight of Ohio's 88 counties fail to qualify for a representative under the constitution's quota system on the basis of the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decree. They could be combined into districts to meet population requirements.

"The Ohio legislature has never had any jurisdiction in state apportionment policy or district decisions," Cloud said. "This subject has always been fully covered by the Ohio constitution."

"However," he continued, "this committee is appointed for the purpose of giving a study in depth of the proposed effect in Ohio of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions and to provide proposed recommendations for the 1965 (General Assembly) session."

Cloud last month named 12 legislators to study congressional redistricting to comply with an earlier Supreme Court decision that congressmen must be elected in equally populated areas.

Apportionment committee members, besides Cloud, include:

Sens. Kenneth F. Berry, R-Coshocton; Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton; Frank W. King, D-Lucas; C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, and John C. Smith, D-

Kids Stage Protest March on Candy Store

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After a show of force, a dozen kids have converted a candy store owner to their way of thinking.

Their way of thinking is that when you are at a candy counter trying to make up your mind you don't like to be rushed.

They considered that Mrs. Antoinette Mufarreh was rushing them in her Noe Hill market at 4001 Noe St. So they marched on the market and protested.

Mrs. Mufarreh agreed they should not be rushed at such a critical time. She went further. Would they like to come to her house for some free candy? They would. And afterward: "She's a very nice lady," said Kevin Fregosi, 4, savoring a mint.

Scranton Blast at Barry 'Steamroller'

CHICAGO (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton heads for San Francisco today to try to upset what he termed the "political steamroller" of Sen. Barry Goldwater at the Republican National Convention.

Scranton has challenged the front-running Arizona Senator for the GOP nomination Tuesday night in a nationally televised political program on NBC the governor accused Goldwater managers of "smears" and "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination from Scranton. The convention opens Monday.

Said Scranton:

"They (the Goldwater managers) are trying to create a political steamroller unparalleled for its toughness its callousness, its total disregard for the opinion of rank-and-file Republicans."

The governor declared that "every survey taken shows that I'm leading him in the number of rank-and-file Republicans—Republican voters that is—who would prefer that I be the candidate."

"Sen. Goldwater's managers know this, so they have undertaken a no-holds-barred campaign to see to it that the delegates at the convention do not reflect the wishes of the people back home."

Scranton said the Goldwater forces are circulating a pamphlet "that questions my patriotism." The pamphlet, said the governor, is produced by "extremists" who urge that the GOP convention be deluged with them.

One line of the pamphlet was quoted by Scranton as saying the governor has "a record of actions which prove his softness on communism."

"The American people will revolt against this kind of smear campaign," said Scranton, "and I think the Goldwater managers are insulting the common sense of the delegates to ask them to believe it in San Francisco."

Scranton contended "we cannot afford a moratorium on (foreign) policy during the months of this presidential campaign."

He proposed that a comprehensive policy be formed for Southeast Asia to replace what he described as a country-by-country piecemeal policy.

Teen-Agers And Drinking

Local and Columbiana County authorities, among other officials, civic and lay leaders throughout the state, are being appealed to by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control for suggestions on how to curb what is described by the department itself as an alarming increase in drinking among teen-agers.

The department is in somewhat of an embarrassing position because it is the legal dispenser of drinks. However, the problem does exist and Liquor Control Director Donald Cook is to be commended for wanting to do something to correct the situation and admitting that he alone doesn't have the answer.

LIQUOR PERMIT HOLDERS have been warned repeatedly against the sale of intoxicants to minors, yet some do. In other instances older youths make their carry-out purchases and speed away in cars where there are younger boys and girls. Salem is no exception.

Apparently, thrill-seeking teen-agers believe they can inject more "swing" into summertime fun by downing alcoholic beverages. For the great majority of our youngsters, however, summertime means good, clean fun and relaxation, of work and travel, which is a refreshing pace-breaker between school terms.

THE YOUNGSTER WHO DRINKS, on the other hand, often pays a terrible price for the rest of his life. He frequently gets into trouble, gets a police record, and finds future job opportunities closed to him because he is classified as a delinquent.

The pleasant, social cocktail his parents might drink is "dynamite" for him but he lacks the wisdom, maturity or experience to know it.

But, if his parents drink, why shouldn't he? Therein probably lies the problem.

Solving it will require longer time than pinpointing the troubles, but perhaps our teen-agers, if properly educated against the ills of drinking, can themselves prove responsibly mature when it comes to proper social conduct.

Long Way to the Moon

That Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's prolonged attacks of dizziness following his fall in a bathroom last February could be related to his experiences as an astronaut is a very real possibility, according to Dr. Bernard M. Wagner, chairman of the pathology department of the New York Medical College.

The New York doctor further believes there could be some relationship between Col. Glenn's inner ear condition and that of his fellow astronaut, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., and the Soviet cosmonaut, Maj. Gherman Titov.

Dr. Wagner expressed his belief after briefing the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics on the results of a week-long trip to the Soviet Union during which he conferred with leading Soviet space biologists and physicians and found them supporting his viewpoint.

While the National Aeronautics and Space Administration doctors hold to the belief Glenn's condition is in no way connected with his space flight, Dr. Wagner supports his theory with the studies and findings of the Soviet experts.

THE NEW YORK doctor reported that Soviet scientists now are convinced that some sort of artificial gravity will be necessary for astronauts taking prolonged space flights. They are thinking of equipping their new Vostok spaceships with centrifuge on which the cosmonauts would spin periodically at a force one-third that of the earth's gravitational pull.

This exercise is designed to keep the heart and blood circulation systems in shape for activity after returning to earth. Both American and Soviet astronauts have suffered drops in blood pressure after returning from long space flights. He said the Soviets are preparing for another flight before the end of the year.

Dr. Wagner also revealed that the Soviets have decided not to send any more women into space because they are not satisfied with the performance of Valentina Tereshkova, the first woman in space.

The Soviet doctors found she was too excited in space as reflected by wide variations in her pulse rate and that she did not recover from the effects as quickly as the male cosmonauts.

The question of inner ear disturbances, Dr. Wagner said, still is one of the big unknowns in manned space flight.

RECENT EXPERIMENTS with chimpanzees have shown that extreme acceleration - deceleration forces, such as those astronauts undergo in flight and during training, cause hemorrhages in the small blood vessels of the ear.

These hemorrhages could lead to formation of small scars on either the hearing mechanism or the semi-circular canals which could lead eventually to impairment of hearing or balance.

Although Col. Glenn's doctor says the astronaut is making "considerable progress" and now spends most of his time out of bed, sudden changes in direction and rides over bumpy roads still make the colonel dizzy, the doctor reports.

If Dr. Wagner and the Soviet scientists are correct in their assumptions, medical science still has a long way to go before man conquers space and lands on the moon.

Summer is the time of year when it's wonderful to be alive, just like all other seasons.

If people would stop to think they'd think to stop saying things that hurt other people.

Wishful Walden

By Truman Twill

The site of Henry David Thoreau's hut near Walden Pond at Concord, Mass., has been fenced in with granite corner posts and a heavy chain.

It is too bad every young man bowled over by "Walden," as many young men are in the course of reading American literature, cannot stand at the spot and visualize the environment that was to have such a profound effect on thought and expression in this nation.

Thoreau was this country's Jean Jacques Rousseau. Like his French counterpart, who lived a century earlier, Thoreau expressed revulsion against organization and restraint. He was the spokesman for all native-born "anarchists."

That is why "Walden" will be bowling over impressionable readers for countless generations to come. It describes a longing that many men feel—a longing to cut the ropes that tie them to routines prescribed for them by others.

Thoreau, who had been an outdoors nut from childhood, expressed his revulsion by hiving up in a hut on a pond near Concord for 26 months and writing "Walden," a group of essays recording his thoughts while living in simplicity and solitude. No essay ever turned 26 months to better account.

BUT A VISITOR to the site of Thoreau's refuge from complications and restraints is inevitably aware of the principal fact of his recorded experiences—the fact they were undertaken as an experiment and concluded in the same spirit.

Walden Pond was, in other words, a wonderful place to visit but Thoreau didn't want to live there.

What he was seeking was not life in the woods with its attendant inconveniences but a chance to think things through without interruption. That is why his writing continues to have impact out of proportion to actual content. He did what others would like to do but almost never have the courage to try to do.

If Thoreau had written the same things while sitting on a bench in the front yard of the Emerson home, where he had lived much of the time, the impact would have been lessened.

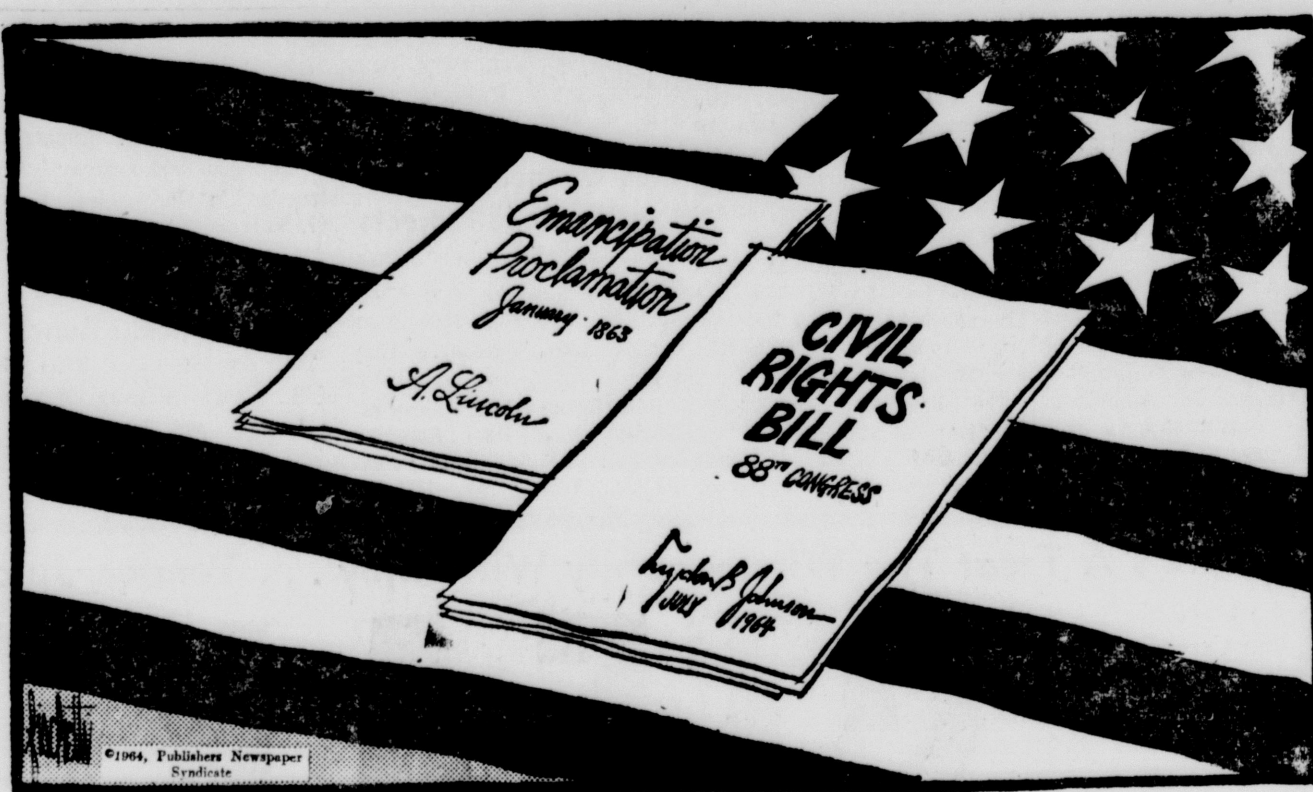

"Our life is frittered away by detail. . . . Simplify, simplify," he wrote in his solitude. And again, "I never found the companion that was so companionable as solitude."

If all the young men bowled over by "Walden" could stand at the spot where Thoreau wrote his essays, chances are they would think of something infinitely more important than the quest for solitude.

THEY WOULD REALIZE that a handful of sensitive Americans talking and swapping thoughts in the quiet little community of Concord, "where once the emerald farmers stood and fired the shots heard 'round the world," had more impact on the civilization they breathed life into than all the millions engaged in what seemed to be more important tasks. They demonstrated the power of ideas.

Henry David Thoreau, one of our lesser lights, immortalized himself with "Walden." The book was regarded as mildly ridiculous when it was first published unsuccessfully and still is by all the go-getters.

That is probably what accounts for its lasting popularity among people who wince at the prospect of "getting got."

Conceived In Liberty

Free Labor Development

Victor Riesel is touring Africa and Eastern Europe to cover the fast breaking news in those parts of the world. In his absence prominent personages in American affairs are pinch-hitting for him.

By GEORGE MEANY
President AFL-CIO

By the time this guest column is published both Victor Riesel and I will be overseas in different areas of the world. Both of us will be traveling because of the worldwide commitments of the American labor movement.

As a reporter Victor Riesel will be checking activities in which the AFL-CIO is engaged. I will be in conferences on international trade union problems with the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions and the International Labor Organization one of the specialized agencies of the United Nations.

Both these trips result from a little known fact about American unions. I refer to the fact that the AFL-CIO spends nearly one-fourth of its annual income in the international arena.

We recruit no new members as a result of this activity. We still never collect a cent of dues as a result of our efforts.

BUT IT SEEMS to us that this is an investment in the most real sense of the word. It is an investment in democracy, an investment in freedom, an investment in the well-being of our fellow man on continents at once miles away from the United States and only minutes away from our shores.

The interest of the American trade union movement in the international field is not new. It has been a sustained effort that goes back to the very earliest days of organized labor in this country.

It is an interest born out of the realization that there is a true brotherhood of workers; that the well-being of a nation is based on the well-being of her people; that the true wealth of any country is the health and the happiness of its citizens.

Most of the time there is nothing very dramatic about the work of the trade union movement of the United States in other lands. Our representatives spend their time and effort in the unromantic task of helping fledgling unions in such day-to-day necessities as keeping the books, teaching parliamentary procedures and providing such basic assistance as reading, writing and arithmetic.

WE SPEND our funds for typewriters, for paper and pencils — for the real weapons of a democracy at war.

Sometimes the assignments are exciting and dramatic. I recall well the days when Marshall Plan aid was reaching the shores of Europe. The Communists were determined that none of it be unloaded, although starvation and want were running rampant on the European continent.

There were some in the United States who thought European or even American troops should be used to unload those vessels of aid. We thought differently. We thought that the use of uniformed soldiers would be playing into the hands of the Communists.

We believed in the workers of those lands. We believed that, if given the understanding, they would abhor Communism; if given the opportunity, they would reject it. So we helped our fellow trade unionists organize sound unions on the European continent.

The Marshall Plan materials were unloaded despite the Communists and they were unloaded by the civilian workers of those countries.

THE REAL VICTORY, of course, was that the forces of democracy triumphed. The real victory was that strong, democratic, free trade unions were built in those countries. The real victory was that the spread of communism was blocked and reversed.

There is no gainsaying the fact that in every country where there is a strong, free, and democratic trade union movement, then all of the people are free. There is a democracy flourishes.

There also is no gainsaying the fact that whenever a trade union movement is weak or destroyed or controlled by the government, then all of the people in the land are captives. There is no freedom. There are no democratic rights. There is only tyranny.

It is to the end that there be complete freedom for all peoples that the American trade union movement is dedicated. In Africa and in Asia, in Latin America and in Europe that has been our goal. That is our purpose. That's what we are seeking today.

THAT IS WHY we have formed the American Institute for Free Labor Development in Washington. This is independent operation, supported by free labor and free industry in the United States, is today training hundreds of South and Central Americans to become the trade union leaders of their lands in the future.

In every nation newly emerging from the yoke of colonialism, you will find young national leaders dedicated to democracy whose background was the trade union movement and who, some time in their lives were helped in some way by the workers of the United States.

We have had our disappointments. Algeria was one.

But disappointment to us is not discouragement. We believe that the seeds of freedom which we helped sow in Algeria when that nation was fighting for national independence will some day flourish. Oh, yes, the first growth was trampled by the heavy boots of a new tyranny. But those seeds were deeply planted and they will flourish again—of that I am sure.

And in Brazil, where today we are helping give birth to free unions, we are confident that freedom will once again be fully achieved.

THERE IS ONE overriding principle that guides the AFL-CIO in these efforts.

It is the firm belief that freedom is a precious commodity that cannot be subdivided among the peoples of the world on any geographical basis.

We believe that freedom is the birthright of all men and that no man is fully free while any of his neighbors is captive.

It is the achievement of full freedom everywhere; it is the abomination of tyranny and totalitarianism that marks the American trade union movement.

And it is a benchmark of which we are proud.

The Crucial Protest Vote

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Is President Johnson going to win the election easily, or is there a possibility that Sen. Goldwater, if nominated on the Republican ticket next week, might prove a surprise and bring either a close result or even a victory? These questions are being discussed every day now not only by politicians but by those people generally who do not put too much faith in public-opinion polls.

The truth is that the election will turn very largely on the extent of a protest vote throughout the United States. It need not necessarily be a nationwide protest, but it could swing whole sections where there are large blocs of electoral votes.

What are the causes of the protest vote today? There are factors such as unemployment which will influence local areas, but there are other issues even more active in producing negative votes namely, the reaction of the people toward foreign policy, especially the casualties in Viet Nam, and toward governmental interference with what have always been considered to be private rights in American life.

The biggest unknown quantity today is the protest vote over what is being called the civil rights issue. There are millions of people who are afraid that the Democratic party has embarked on a course which will intrude in the private lives of the citizens and that an enormous expense is about to be incurred to enforce the new law.

Perhaps the most striking example of a protest vote that is building up rapidly is in what is known as the "open occupancy" issue.

CURIOSLY ENOUGH this does not involve something which Congress has done, but concerns laws passed in many cities and in such states as New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Colorado, Alaska, Oregon and California.

While the laws vary in their provisions, the objective is "open occupancy" under housing laws which prevent the owner of a property from selling to whomever he pleases, with the result that property owners in a neighborhood may see real estate values drop because of the enforced admission of people who cause some owners to sell their property and move away. There are more than 32 million homeowners in America — a sizable voting group.

There also are approximately 600,000 licensed real estate salesmen in the United States, and many of them are disturbed by the state laws.

NOT LONG AGO, Ed Mendenhall the president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, issued a statement in which he said:

"Fortunately, the American public seems to be awakening at last to the threat of forced housing laws, as real estate boards and others point out how they shatter the cherished human rights of private property ownership, despite the emotional appeals of many well-meaning but unthinking people."

"Four recent actions illustrate how the tide is turning dramatically as the public begins to comprehend the specifics of the too-often deceptive catch phrases of 'fair housing' and 'anti-bias laws.'"

Mr. Mendenhall pointed out that just a few months ago voters in Seattle, Wash., emphatically rejected a forced-housing ordinance by a 2-1 margin in a referendum, and that Tacoma, Wash., a month earlier crushed a similar proposal by a 3-1 vote. He mentioned that the Rhode Island House of Representatives turned down a forced-housing bill by a 2-1 margin, and that last December the Wisconsin Legislature voted down a similar bill with the same decisiveness.

THERE ARE important referendum votes coming up in November in Illinois and California on the same issue. Mr. Mendenhall expressed confidence that the voters in those two states would reject forced housing, by the same impressive votes.

While the federal government hasn't anything to do with local housing laws, it is noted that the recently passed civil rights law grants to a federal commission authority to investigate racial discrimination of any kind, and if this information is not forthcoming police powers may be used to obtain it.

The mere fact that such an investigating commission exists has served notice on many people that what the states have already tried to do might subsequently be accentuated by federal government action.

There are, of course, other factors of discontent in the electorate today, but the real estate issue is cited as an example of something that has been going on under the surface in many parts of the country.

There are evidences that the protest vote is larger than has hitherto been estimated and this has given rise to a belief that maybe the election will not, after all, be a pushover for the administration.

Business Booming In U.S.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— Taking stock after the Fourth of July holiday many sectors of both government and business find themselves healthier than usual.

Uncle Sam has about $2 billion more cash on hand than he thought he would.

Steel production slipped much less than it usually does in an Independence Day shortened work week.

Retail sales in many stores were better last week than in the like holiday week a year ago.

Car sales are holding up surprisingly well as the end of the season approaches.

The Treasury has been selling more U.S. Savings Bonds than a year ago.

This country's foreign trade hit a record high earlier this year, the government reports. And now it expects the whole year to turn out better than it first thought, despite the roadblocks the European Common Market might throw up.

Banks have increased their business, and their profits, in the first half of the year. Few see much cause for worry in the immediate future.

And while the banks were increasing their deposits and their loans, they and the finance companies were setting a record high in consumer installment credit extended. At the same time their collections on outstanding debt also rose to highs.

Prices of blue chip stocks climbed to peaks before the holiday, and then topped that performance on the first day after the long weekend.

Perhaps the most surprising of all this postholiday outpouring of better than usual news is the flush condition of the U.S. Treasury.

It has just tallied its books for the fiscal year that ended June 30 and finds it has a cash balance of $16.2 billion. That doesn't mean the federal debt hasn't gone up—it has. But the cash on hand is a pleasant $2 billion more than the Treasury had expected.

Officials explain that government spending wasn't at quite as fast a clip as they had expected. Also, tax receipts were higher than anticipated. Part of this was due to a rise in personal incomes and corporate profits, so that even with the rates cut, the Treasury's take was higher.

In 1946, the Allied foreign ministers agreed to issue invitations to a peace conference in Paris late in July.

Ten years ago — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said the United States had no plans to withdraw from the United Nations but promised to use the veto to prevent Red China from entering the Security Council.

Five years ago — The U.S. representative on the NATO Council announced that 200 American Air Force jet fighter-bombers would be moved from bases in France to West Germany and Britain.

DOWN on the FARM

Alfalfa Weevil Warning

Some alfalfa area producers report damage is occurring to second cuttings by the alfalfa weevil, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Either the larvae or adult forms of the pest may be feeding upon the new shoots sufficiently to cause economic damage, and producers should closely watch their fields to determine if this is occurring.

If damage appears to be retarding the regrowth, usually when 50 per cent of the tips show feeding, it will pay to spray the crop. Entomologists at Ohio State University recommend either one pound of Malathion or one and one-half pounds of Methoxychlor per acre in 20 gallons of water. The alfalfa should not be harvested or grazed for seven days after treatment.

Methoxychlor is presently being strongly recommended as this application will also control leafhoppers, which have been a problem during the past two seasons on second cuttings. Alfalfa weevil was first found in Columbiana County in 1961 and it has since spread over the entire county.

"Leaf Scald" in Area

Area corn producers have been concerned about irregular grayish white discoloration of corn leaves which recently occurred in their corn fields, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

The condition is caused by a combination of high temperature and high humidity and is called "leaf scald." It is not a disease and nothing can be done for it.

Symptoms frequently occur only on the under side of the leaves. The proportion of the leaf surface of an individual corn plant which is affected is generally quite small and the damage is not serious.

Agonomists at Ohio State

University report the unusual condition has been observed from all sections of the state, Myers said.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Saxton

Knight-Saxton Vows Are Heard At Church

A candlelight service concluded the marriage ceremony of Miss Judy Kathleen Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Knight of Industry, Pa., and William S. Saxton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Saxton of Brushton, N. Y.

The wedding took place at 7 p.m. June 26 at the Salem Pilgrim Church, with Rev. Howard F. McConkey, pastor of the Bible Holiness Chapel of Ohioville, Pa., officiating.

Baskets of palms and ferns with two white floral vases at the ends of the altar decorated the church. Flanking the altar were seven-branch candelabra.

Mrs. Delmar Kaufman was vocal soloist. Miss Grace Price played nuptial music on the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta with a full lace insert down the front. The dress was designed with a high, scalloped scoop neckline and long, tapered, pointed sleeves. Her long veil was attached to a crown of matching lace.

She carried a white bridal Bible topped with a bouquet centered with white roses surrounded by lily-of-the-valley and pink rosebuds with long streamers attached.

Miss Patricia McMurdy of Franklin, Pa., roommate of the bride, was maid of honor in a dress of brocade taffeta with a full skirt, wide cummerbund, high scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her matching veil was attached to a hat of lavender brocade taffeta.

Wearing turquoise gowns similar to that worn by the maid of honor were the bridesmaids, Miss Gayle Parker of Damascus and Miss Rachel Cope of Columbiana, friends of the bride. All three attendants had white accessories and carried bouquets of white carnations.

Deborah Jo-Ann Knight, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of lavender brocade taffeta with long, tapered pointed sleeves and a headpiece similar to those of the other attendants. She carried a basket of yellow and white flowers.

All of the dresses were designed by the bride and made by Mrs. Alfred Cope of Columbiana.

Timothy Saxton of Brushton, N. Y., served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Dorsey Nocenti and Eldon Price, both of Salem, and Frank John-

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I have found so many uses for an old discarded shower curtain that I must pass along some of them.

Our space is limited so our bed doubles as a sprinkling table on ironing days. This curtain makes it possible to perform this task without leaving damp bedding, if laid down first, over the spread etc.

If I need more space when sewing and cutting out good materials, I lay the curtain on the living room floor. Afterwards, I can just pick up the curtain and throw the cutting mess in the trash.

When washing my sweaters, I block them on towels and place the towels and sweaters on the old shower curtain and slip the whole thing under the bed 'til they dry. . . .

We also take one along on picnics to serve as a cloth or to use under a cloth.

If the ground is damp when I want to get some sun, I place my beach towel on top of the curtain.

On our return from the lake or beach, we place the curtain on the floor of the car and put all of the damp things on it. Best of all, the curtain can be tossed into the washing machine and be clean and ready for the next job.

M. ROSS.

DEAR HELOISE: A doll house for a little girl can be made from a cardboard carton.

Just cut out one side so that it leaves a floor and three walls. Either paint the box or apply adhesive-backed paper, then cut out windows and doors.

Doll furniture can be bought at any dime store and curtains can be made from scraps of material.

The hardware store may have some leftover wall paper to paper the walls.

This little doll house costs only a few cents for the paint or paper and it makes a little girl so happy.

MRS. M. H. PREUTER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint for those who lack bathroom cabinet space for their shampoos, antiseptics, and what have you.

I bought a plastic shoe bag (the type that holds several pairs of shoes) and hung it on the back of the bathroom door. It certainly is handy.

EMILY LOWE.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that a round, cake-cool-in rack will just fit a pizza pan? I line the pan with foil and place the rack on top of it.

Now, I can barbecue a whole chicken on it in my oven. It is also a good way to bake pork chops without any additional fat. The fat will drip through the grate. The juices then may be utilized for gravy etc.

ANN TEEL.

DEAR HELOISE: I thought I might pass along another vinegar hint to you and the rest of your readers.

After cleaning fish, wash your hands with vinegar. It will take the fish odor away.

JUANITA.

DEAR HELOISE: When shopping for a pair of cuff links to go with a certain blouse, I couldn't find just what I wanted.

I tried clip-on earrings and they work! And you can get so many selections of inexpensive and beautiful clip-on earrings.

State Department Encouraged

U.S. Assessing U.N. Proposal by Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union appear to be moving into a major new negotiation on the future of the United Nations because of financing of U.N. military forces employed over the world to deal with threats to peace.

The two powers differ sharply on the extent of control which should be vested as a practical matter in the Security Council rather than the General Assembly and on some other issues.

But State Department authorities said today they are encouraged by the latest Soviet move and believe that the Soviet government may be ready to open serious negotiations on these questions and to cooperate with the United Nations to a degree unknown in the past.

These officials are trying to on how strategic a city is."

Some credit the extensive advance preparations for the continuing drawing power of the Graham crusades, which some critics predicted would lose appeal a decade or more ago.

Brown thinks there's more to it.

"People are hungry for something," he said, "The crusade brings the challenge of the Gospel, and they can see that Billy Graham firmly believes what he preaches."

"Some are curious, but a great many come to find a spiritual answer to life. Many come ready to make their decision."

There are those who depart disappointed, he admits.

"Maybe they're expecting something out of 'Elmer Gantry.' There have been changes. Billy Graham dresses more conservatively than he did in the beginning. But I don't think the crusades have lost any fervor."

Brown emphasizes that Graham gets no pay, and that financial arrangements are handled by the host churches. A public audit is published afterward.

Graham's income is from his books, newspaper columns and other works, Brown says, and individual contributions of money and time meet crusade costs.

In 139 crusades, an average of 2.64 per cent of those present have "come forward for Christ," crusade public relations man Lance Zavitz says. They are referred to an appropriate church in their home area and the Graham organization follows through to see if the local minister has contacted them.

assess the Soviet Union's intentions in the light of its split with Red China and the fact that it is facing a loss of its vote in the United Nations because of refusal to pay assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Disclosure of the Soviet move came Monday night with the release in Tokyo of a Soviet note to Japan calling for the formation of the U.N. military force under the Security Council, the troops to be supplied by the smaller U.N. members, including Communist countries. The five veto powers of the council would provide funds but no troops.

U.S. officials are still puzzled by the fact that the note was presented first to Japan and made public there by the Foreign Office.

The United States and Great Britain were not given official Soviet outlines of the proposal until Tuesday night.

re-appropriated for 1965.

However, Council will probably place the $20,000 in the equipment reserve fund where it can be carried over to 1965. After Jan. 1 the money could be transferred out of the fund for use wherever Council wishes.

Budget Awaited Tuesday
The budget is expected to be passed when Council meets in special session next Tuesday. It must be sent to the County Budget Commission for study by July 20.

Asry said that after his committee had "cut all the corners we see we can cut" the budget is still $18,000 over anticipated revenue.

He said that he feels that since the parking meter monies will now go into the general fund, it can be listed as anticipated revenue and will balance the budget. The meters yield about $32,000 annually.

The only other ordinance passed by Council last night transfers $900 from the special firemen fund to the equipment fund for new firemen and policemen funds so that the three new men in each department can be properly outfitted.

Offers City Church Annex
George Emeny, owner of the old Friends Church on Pershing St., was present at last night's meeting and offered to sell to the city the Sunday school building at a cost less than two-thirds of what it would take to build it.

The two-story brick building is 40 feet by 60 feet and was built in 1950. Emeny suggested that the building could be moved from its present location to the lot owned by the city next to City Hall and could be used for added municipal office space.

The matter was referred to the public buildings committee by Council President Ford Joseph Jr.

Mrs. Dorothy McKibbin, recently appointed deputy auditor, complained to Council that the vacation schedule for city employees now under study is not fair to those who have worked less than five years, in that they would receive only one week leave annually.

Joseph told Mrs. McKibbin that Council is still working on the vacation legislation. The vacation and holiday schedules for municipal workers will be discussed at the special meeting of Council Tuesday.

Solicitor Coe, in his report to Council, said that to date income tax investigations have netted the city about $975. He said more subpoenas have been issued to businesses which have failed to comply with the city ordinance.

A petition was received calling for passage of legislation governing the harboring of animals in the city. Joseph noted that a committee is currently investigating the problem and said he "hopes this satisfies the petitioners."

$872,855 Figure For '65 Is Increase

Columbiana Budget OK'd

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT
COLUMBIANA — A 1965 budget of $872,855 in estimated receipts and expenditures was approved by council at its meeting Tuesday at the Village Hall. The amount is an increase of $14,000 over last year's budget of $858,855.

Included in the estimated figure, the sum of $175,000 remains to be paid for the interceptor sewer and sewage disposal plant, currently under construction. The budget will be presented to the county auditor for approval.

In other business, the lone seal-coating bid of Snyder's Asphalt Paving Co. of Hanoverton was accepted. Snyder agreed to supply materials and labor for seal-coating village streets at 30 cents per square yard. According to specifications, work is to begin Aug. 1 and be completed within six working days.

Blacktop bids are to be opened at noon Saturday, at which time members of the street commission will decide on the streets to be re-conditioned.

Donald Hisey, street commissioner, noted that if blacktopping of the streets within the park and cemetery is completed, no further work of that nature will be required for a three-year period.

2 Hurt As Blasts Damage Mississippi 'Freedom House'

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP)—Three explosions "like gunshots, only much louder" damaged a civil rights "freedom house" in this southwest Mississippi city before dawn today.

Two civil rights workers—one of them a white summer volunteer — were slightly injured. Eight others were asleep in the

"Senator Goldwater's managers know this, so they have undertaken a no-holds-barred campaign to see to it that the delegates at the convention do not reflect the wishes of the people back home."

In the same vein, Scott said the Goldwater delegates are "under the iron whip of discipline" not to demonstrate in any way that they and others already in San Francisco are, as he put it, "the most unhappy group of delegates ever gathered for a convention."

Goldwater himself said in his interview with a reporter for Der Spiegel there would be another ball game come October. In San Francisco, Richard Kleindienst, codirector of the senator's field operations, put it this way: "I think by October there will be a complete new concept between the parties."

Scott conceded that, as the incumbent president, Johnson holds the advantage over any Republican. But Scott said Scranton could overcome this advantage and Goldwater could not.

This shift to an attack on what Scott called Goldwater's "no win" policy marked an apparent departure from the strategy of throwing the convention into turmoil over the civil rights plank in the platform.

The Scranton forces found themselves increasingly fenced in in this latter endeavor.

It became apparent, in the first place, that Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, who was the man to see about any changes made by the Senate in the House civil rights bill, was being given major responsibility in drafting the GOP platform plank on this issue.

The feeling was that whatever McCulloch approved as a plank would be likely to stand up in the convention as a reasonable statement of the party's position despite any committee minority's effort to change it.

McCulloch said only that he believes there is room to compromise the Goldwater and Scranton positions to work out wording endorsing the new Civil Rights Act.

Goldwater voted against the legislation, saying he believes the public accommodations and equal employment opportunities provisions are unconstitutional.

Scott indicated he is inclined to compromise on this point if the platform plank describes the law in terms indicating the Republicans believe it is legal.

Convention leaders said they will ask for agreement on an hour's debate in the convention's sessions on any and all amendments that might be proposed there to the platform. They indicated they would force a convention vote—in which Goldwater's backers presumably would prevail—on any effort to engage in any lengthy, emotion-arousing discussion of civil rights.

house. The McComb Police Department sent units to the scene and a fire truck stood by until it was determined there was no blaze.

"We are making a full investigation," said an FBI spokesman in the agency's New Orleans office, which covers southern Mississippi. The spokesman said agents had not determined what type of explosives were used.

Ed Rudd, a spokesman for the Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee, said three one-quart oil cans "which we believe contained an explosive of some sort" were found outside the frame house located in the Negro section of McComb.

"We think the three cans were unexploded," Rudd said.

George Green, 20, a Greenwood Negro and SNCC staff worker who was in the house, said he heard "three rapid explosions in succession like gunshots, only much louder."

Curtis Hays, 21, a McComb Negro and also a SNCC staff worker, received cuts on the face and body.

Green said the living room and a bedroom in the house were damaged and a gaping hole was left in the wall of the bedroom where Hays was sleeping.

Also in the room was Dennis Sweeney, 21, a Stanford University student from Portland, Ore. who received cuts. Sweeney is one of 500 college students, mostly white persons, who volunteered for civil rights work in Mississippi for the summer.

against Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam is on the right track and can be won if the Washington and Saigon governments keep at it.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, now boosting Scranton after dropping out of the presidential race himself, jabbed indirectly at the front-running Goldwater on both foreign and domestic issues in speaking to the plank writers Tuesday.

But Goldwater's representative on the platform group, Arizona Rep. John J. Rhodes, said afterwards "I thought he (Rockefeller) showed a wide area of agreement among Republicans."

Ohio Rep. William M. McCulloch, chairman of the platform panel which heard civil rights witnesses Tuesday and an architect of the new law, said he believes there is still room between the Goldwater and Scranton positions to work out wording endorsing the law.

Goldwater voted against the civil rights bill in the Senate, saying major parts of it are unconstitutional. He says he would enforce the law as president because that is the chief executive's duty.

The platform group's executive committee held its first meeting Tuesday night and authorized drafters to start work on the document.

Two Salem Women Slightly Hurt When Hit by Auto

Two Salem women received contusions of the body when they were bumped by a slow-moving auto as they were crossing Penn Ave. at State St. at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Injured were Marie DeCrow, 58, of 656 Fair Ave. and Theresa Parlonieri, 56, of 1515 E. 5th St.

Both women were taken to Salem Central Clinic where they were treated and had X-rays taken.

According to police, Carol Davner, 17, of RD 2, Leetonia had stopped headed north on Penn Ave. at State St. When an east-bound auto on State stopped to allow her to make a right turn, she started out slowly, not seeing the women crossing the street in front of her until it was too late to avoid hitting them with the left front fender of the auto.

Police are continuing their investigation of the accident.

A Shaker Heights man was treated at the Central Clinic for shock following a two-car accident on Sugartree Alley at the rear of the Coy Buick parking lot at 5:52 p. m. Tuesday.

Howard W. Hampa, 66, was backing his car out of the parking lot and struck a west-bound auto driven by Willard Stamp, 31, of 389 N. Ellsworth Ave.

Hampa pleaded "no contest" to a charge of failure to yield the right of way and was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer Tuesday.

Perry B. Grady, 67, of Washingtonville was fined $10 and costs when he appeared before Mayor Cranmer today on charges of failure to yield the right of way.

Police said Grady backed his car out of a diagonal parking space on S. Broadway about 60 feet north of Pershing St. and was struck from behind by an auto operated by John Wagner, 56, of 619 Prospect St. The crash occurred at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions, Answers

Q—Our 11-year-old son complains of a headache on both sides of his head. He says he gets it often, but has not wanted to talk about it. Is this serious?

A—There are many causes for headaches. If your son gets them often he should have a thorough examination. Common causes include fatigue, emotional upsets, eye-strain and chronic sinusitis. From this distance, I can be sure of only one thing: these are not migraine headaches. Although migraine usually starts in childhood, it affects only one side of the head.

Q—What would be the side effects of cortisone when given to a 2-year-old child over an extended length of time?

A—Much would depend on the cause for which this drug is given. In general, prolonged use might cause moonface, abnormal fat deposits, waterlogging, pimples, growth of hair on the face, dryness of the skin, thinning of the hair on the scalp, poor resistance to infection and delayed wound healing. I'm sure your doctor would not give this drug to a 2-year-old for long periods without good reason. He would probably keep the dose to the smallest amount that would give the needed effect. Discontinuation of the drug, when it is done, must be gradual.

Q—My son has agammaglobulinemia. What is it and what is the treatment?

A—This is a deficiency of gamma globulin in the blood. The condition is congenital and, like color-blindness, may be transmitted by the mother, but is seen only in boys. Because gamma globulin helps us to fight infections, children with this deficiency get repeated infections and have a hard time to get rid of them.

The victims are especially susceptible to infections involving their joints. Injections of gamma globulin are given to help the victim overcome an infection, but the effect is not lasting and no permanent cure is known.

Q—Is it safe for a mother with asthma to breast feed her baby?

A—It is not only safe, but preferable. When babies develop asthma and other allergies, they usually get them from early infections or cow's milk.

Q—Are there any tablets or liquids that can be taken by mouth to prevent poison ivy?

A—The only preventive is desensitizing injections. These are especially recommended for persons subject to frequent unavoidable exposure to this and related plants. The injections must be taken two or three months before such an exposure to be effective. Cortisone and related hormones taken by mouth after the blisters appear will give relief, but no tablets will prevent the attack.

Q—I have aphthous stomatitis and have tried all kinds of mouthwash, but nothing helps. What can I do to get rid of it?

A—Aphthous stomatitis is another name for canker sores. Mouthwashes in general are of no help. Touching the sores with alum, tincture of Merthiolate, or silver nitrate helps to heal them, but in susceptible persons they are likely to return from time to time.

'Make It With Wool' Contest Scheduled

The 18th annual "make-it-yourself with wool" contest will be held in November in the district, according to Miss Ann Overturf, county extension agent in home economics.

The contest is open to girls 10 to 21 and adults. Separate contests are held for the different age groups.

Contestants must construct a garment of 100 per cent wool and model it at the district contest. Either commercial patterns or original designs may be used.

Interested persons should obtain and complete their entry forms at the cooperative extension office in Lisbon.

Yule Tree Growers To Meet July 24

John Hacksaylo, forester at Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, will discuss color retention in Christmas trees and the use of color retention sprays when area Christmas tree growers participate in a tour and meeting July 24 at 6:30 p.m.

The group will meet at Zion Church Camp, southeast of East Sparta, and make a tour of the Muskingum Conservancy district plantings.

Elton Beard, New Middletown, is chairman of the group.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Burns suffered in an oil field accident have proved fatal to Johnnie R. Walters, 32, an oil well tender from Brunswick.

Walters died in Medina Community Hospital Tuesday of injuries suffered Monday when a gasoline motor exploded at an oil well in Medina County. He was an employee of Natol Petroleum Corp. of Newark.

FALLS FROM CAR, KILLED

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Muskingum County boy was killed when he fell from the rear of a car on Ohio 376 about 10 miles south of here Tuesday night. The Highway Patrol said the car was pulling a disabled motorbike with a rope when Clarence E. Sines, 16, of near Ruraldale — riding in the car trunk—tumbled out and struck his head on the pavement.

SEEK TO IDENTIFY BODY

CINCINNATI (AP) — Authorities are trying to identify a 50-year-old man whose body was pulled from the Ohio River Tuesday. Police said a boat line employee reported seeing the man alive on Monday afternoon.

Court Income Here $4,324 For June

Judge Luther Donbar in Northwest County Court here collected fines totaling $4,324.71 from criminal and civil cases handled in June.

Total disbursements in June were: $2,782.28 with $605.70 to the state treasurer, $740.30 to the county for percentage of highway patrol cases, $816.73 to the county for court costs, $451 to the county for constable fees, $25 for sheriff's fees, $11.50 to city police and $131.75 for constable fees.

A total of 166 cases were heard in June, 146 of which were criminal and 20 civil.

Remember When--?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory, not clothes, makes the man. Memories mold us to what we are. Take away a man's memories and you take away his personality, his character, in fact his very identity. He becomes a vegetable without individuality.

Memory gives man his sense of continuity and makes him feel a kinship to eternity, and a neighbor to immortality.

You've had quite a feast yourself at life's banquet if you can look back and remember when—

Women wore veils to give them a look of both modesty and mystery.

Men countered by growing handlebar mustaches which gave them an air of strength and self-confidence.

Children roamed the sidewalks collecting tinfoil from discarded cigarette packs to help beat the Kaiser in World War I.

Everybody in the neighborhood kind of looked down on a man who let his wife go to work.

Nobody argued politics with the blacksmith. He was supposed to be the strongest man in town.

The four greatest heroes in America were Buffalo Bill, John L. Sullivan, Adm. Dewey, and Teddy Roosevelt.

The goal of most middle-aged widows was to marry a retired railroad man with good habits.

High school kids wore yellow slickers on which were emblazoned such deathless sayings as "Oh, you kid," and "If you don't want my peaches, don't shake my tree."

When you saw a red-haired girl, the odds were even that her hair was natural-colored.

The surest way for a bachelor to lose his freedom was for him to go calling on Saturday night on a girl whose family owned a front-porch swing.

By the time they were 19 most young fellows had settled on a line of work in which they would spend the rest of their lives.

The favorite fadeout scene in most Western films depicted a faithful pony nudging the bashful cowboy toward the pretty girl.

Beer parlors served free shrimp on Friday nights. You could eat all you wanted to, but you had to shell them yourself.

For $250 you could have a funeral so stylish that people would talk about it for weeks afterward.

Those were the days. Remember?

Cooking Is Fun

By Cecily Brownstone

ORIENTAL MEATBALLS

(4 to 6 Servings)

1½ pounds ground beef, 2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup, 1-3 cup water, ½ cup crushed pineapple, 1 teaspoon soy sauce, ¼ teaspoon ground ginger, Chow mein noodles, Chopped peanuts.

In bowl, combine meat, onion, green pepper and salt; shape into 24 meatballs. Brown in skillet; pour off fat. Add soup, water, pineapple, soy sauce, and ginger. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes. Stir now and then. Serve over noodles. Garnish with peanuts.

SEAGOING SANDWICH

(6 Sandwiches)

1 cup grated American cheese, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle, ¼ teaspoon salt, Dash pepper, 12 slices bread, Soft butter or margarine.

Mix cheese lightly with eggs, pimiento, mayonnaise, pickle, salt and pepper. Spread bread with softened butter and sandwich filling. For easy eating, cut sandwiches lengthwise in thirds. Variations on Corn-on-the-cob

BOILED

Place ears of husked corn in enough boiling water to cover them. Cook, covered, only until milk is set, 5 to 8 minutes. The cooking time depends upon the maturity of the corn. If desired, add 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice to the water.

IN FOIL

Place each ear of husked corn on a square of aluminum foil. Top with a ¼-inch slice of butter. Wrap securely by making a double lengthwise fold on top of the ears. Turn ends up and fold smooth against the corn. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until tender over the grill, turning to cook uniformly. To serve, open the foil and turn back.

STEAMED CORN IN HUSK

Soak ears of unhusked corn, hour in salted water to cover, using 1 tablespoon salt to one quart water. Just before cooking, loosen husks only enough to remove silks. Pull husks back in place and cook over grill 20 to 25 minutes, turning to cook uniformly. The corn will be sweet and juicy cooked by this method.

Barbecue Squab Chickens

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Squab chickens barbecue well. Men like to grill them, showing off their skill. Surveys reveal that men cooks use far more pepper and other spices than do women cooks. Sometimes men measure; as often as not they go "by gosh and by golly." The following recipe, however, has been carefully tested and expertly seasoned sure to please both the man at the grill and his feminine guests.

BARBECUED STUFFED SQUAB CHICKENS (4 servings)

4 squab chickens or rock cornish hens, each weighing 1 to 1 1/4 lbs., 5 cups 1/4-inch toasted bread cubes (croutons), 4 teaspoons instant minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon crumbled rosemary leaves, 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves, 1/2 teaspoon salt or salt to taste, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1-16 teaspoon instant minced garlic, 3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) butter or margarine, melted, about 1-3 cup water or stock salt and ground black pepper, Warm salt water, 1/4 teaspoon crumbled rosemary leaves, 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine, melted.

Wash chickens and set aside to drain well. Measure bread cubes after toasting and combine with the next 7 ingredients. Add only enough water or stock to moisten the mixture. Sprinkle salt and black pepper lightly into the body and neck cavities of chickens. Close openings with skewers. Place over a very slow burning charcoal fire. Cook chicken slowly 2 hours, turning and basting with warm salt water as often as the chicken looks dry. Combine rosemary and melted butter or margarine and brush over the skin of the chicken about 20 minutes before cooking time is up. Repeat several times, using all melted butter or margarine. Lemon Sponge Pie Uses Egg Whites

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
All year round, cooks are likely to have leftover egg whites in a covered jar in the refrigerator. How to use them?

One way is to make the family a lemon sponge pie. This dessert is fine for warm weather because for it you use a rangetop filling and an unbaked graham-cracker crust or one that needs only brief baking.

When we tried this recipe, we made it a day before serving and found it lost none of its flavor or texture after an overnight refrigerator stay. One of our male tasters relished the pie's tangy lemon flavor — the result of using fresh lemon juice and some of the grated lemon rind. If you wish less tang, omit the rind.

LEMON SPONGE PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice, 2 drops yellow food coloring, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind, if desired, 3 egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup light corn syrup, Dainty Graham Crust.

In a small saucepan, sprinkle the gelatin over the cold water; let stand a few minutes to soften gelatin. Add sugar and stir over hot water or very low heat until gelatin and sugar are completely dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice, yellow food coloring and, if used, the grated lemon rind.

Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency. Beat the egg whites and salt until stiff. Slowly beat in corn syrup; continue beating if necessary until smooth and glossy; fold in chilled gelatin mixture.

Chill until thick enough to pile — about 1/2 hour. Pile lightly into Dainty Graham Crust. Chill until ready to serve. This pie keeps so well that it may be prepared a day ahead of serving and kept under refrigeration overnight.

Note: For a very smooth filling, stir the egg white and gelatin mixture occasionally while it is chilling.

DAINTY GRAHAM CRUST
12 two-inch graham crackers, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons granulated or firmly packed light brown sugar, dash of salt.

Roll the graham crackers with a rolling pin until fine crumbs form; there should be 3/4 cup. Cream the butter; blend in the sugar and salt; thoroughly mix in the graham-cracker crumbs. Press evenly over the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. (An 8-inch pie plate may be placed inside the crumb-filled pan for even shaping and pressing.)

EXPENSIVE OVERSIGHT
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Some 50,000 pieces of city income tax literature were sent back to the printer after a small but potentially costly oversight was noted.

The material contained no identification or the name of the sponsoring organization or the name of an official as required by Ohio law.

The city income tax committee would have been liable to a fine of $300 to $2,000 had the literature been distributed.

Collars with two pounds of radio equipment are attached to some grizzly bears in the Yellowstone Park area to enable researchers to learn enough about their habits to check the decline in their numbers.

(sing) Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until browned — about 5 minutes.

Note: To roll crumbs easily, place the crackers between two sheets of waxed paper or in a plastic bag. If you have an electric blender you can, of course, use it to make the crumbs.

Sassy Steaks for Barbecues

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Sassy steak sandwiches are tailored for quick and easy outdoor cooking. The cubed steaks are marinated in a simple sauce. Then, when ready to be cooked, brush them with bottled brown bouquet sauce to give a rich brown look despite quick grilling. Grill onion slices at the same time.

Macaroni salad, whole tomatoes, frozen lemonade and watermelon round out the barbecue menu. To keep clean-up work to a minimum, use paper plates and cups.

SASSY STEAK SANDWICHES (6 sandwiches)

1/4 cup salad oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 6 cubed steaks (4 to 6 ounces each)

Bottled brown bouquet sauce, 6 large hamburger buns.

Mix oil with salt, seasoned salt and pepper. Marinate steaks in oil mixture in refrigerator for several hours.

When ready to cook over charcoal with bottled brown bouquet sauce. Cook quickly over hot coals coal brush marinated steaks turning to brown both sides. While steaks are cooking, toast buns. Serve steaks in buns with grilled onion slices.

Rat Chaser Is Ultrasonic

Pied Piper Might Have Used Salem Made Gadget

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

They dwell in blissful ignorance of the fact, but today's a Black Day for rats without ear muffs.

The first shipment of a Salem-made device that scares the livin' daylights out of rodents was made today from the First Salem Corporation at 714 S. Broadway.

"Rodent Sentry", an inconspicuous metal box housing an electronics system and speakers to produce ultrasonic sound, sets up a frightful din that bombards the ears of rats and mice. Tests show that it chases away the rodents as long as the machine is turned on.

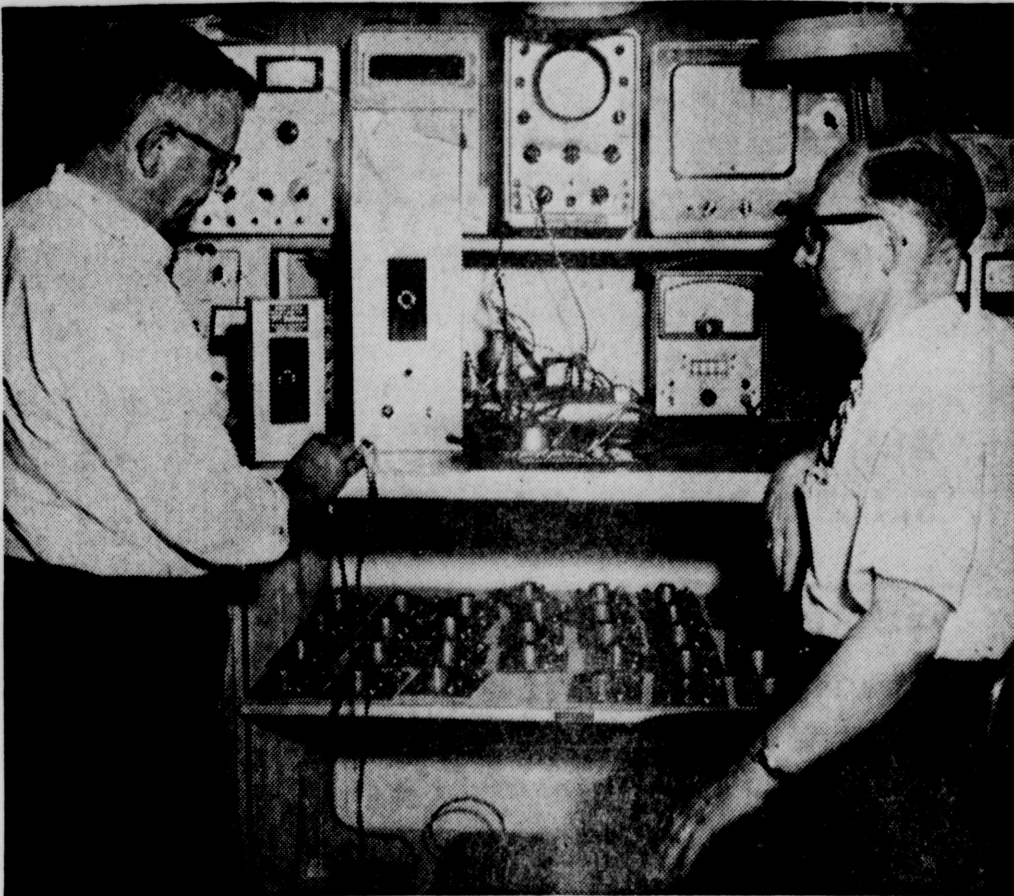

"We've shipped to 15 distributors from coast to coast in the first wave of assemblage," Atty. Walter J. Hunston, corporation president, said, delighted over the reception the gadget has received in research in rat-plagued areas.

THE RODENT exterminator is actually being put out by Dynamic Sound Inc., one of the large family of firms which comprise First Salem Corp., whose headquarters are in the honeycombed office and working space in the old Salem-Brosius building.

The box when hooked up emits sound waves, which although undetectable to most human ears, are easily picked up and apparently utterly obnoxious to the rodent's auditory system.

"A person with ultra-sensitive hearing such as a violinist might be able to hear the sound, but the large majority can't notice it," Dynamic Sound President Walter H. Nelsen says. He says domestic animals and people do not appear to be badly-affected by the sound waves. There's some evidence the ultrasonics may frighten off pigeons and other vermin - type birds and perhaps affect insects.

HUNSTON AND NELSEN figure the best market for the soundboxes will be food and grain handling concerns, such as grain elevators, grain product companies and other areas that suck in rat populations like a vacuum does dirt.

OH, RATS! — Walter H. Nelsen, president of Dynamic Sound Inc., and Atty. Walter J. Hunston, president of First Salem Corp., test a Rodent Sentry before first shipment of the ultrasonic devices today. Below, Mrs. Robert Sipe of Leetonia, one of three women assembling the rat chasers on S. Broadway, works on a Rodent Sentry. Other assemblers are Mrs. Elwood Pincombe of Salem and Mrs. William McFerren of Damascus.

"Eventually we feel the American farmstead may be a potential market for the product but we're currently concentrating on commercial food and grain handlers and similar outlets, Nelsen said.

He was careful to explain that the machine doesn't kill, but instead drives rats into colonies which can then be destroyed with lethal gases or other chemicals. The use of some chemical rat-killers directly in the area of food can be a risky practice.

Ultrasonics against man's pests is far from new, but methods of its use have improved. For instance, the development of the transistor has made possible a compact sound-wave machine that is convenient to handle and move about, compared to the older tube type "squeakers".

Officials of the Salem firm say that in a fairly clear area with good "bounce", the sound waves may cover 5,000 square feet. "The average would be close to 3,000," Nelsen declared. But woe betide any rat that comes within that range!

IBOP Sets Scholarships For Members' Children

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, continuing its 70th annual convention today at Long Beach, Calif., has established a college scholarship program for children of members.

Under a resolution approved Tuesday, three $500 scholarships will be awarded annually, beginning with the 1964-65 school year.

More than 200 delegates are attending the sessions at the Lafayette Hotel.

The convention, launched Monday, is scheduled to close Friday, the Associated Press reported from Long Beach.

Two major resolutions await convention action:

Opposition to further reduction on tariffs on imported dinnerware, tile and art pottery.

Selection of next year's convention site.

A proposal to hold the convention biennially rather than annually.

E. L. Wheatley, international president, is presiding at the sessions. The opening Monday was occupied principally by official welcomes to the city and speeches by visiting labor leaders.

The first major business came before the convention yesterday. About 60 resolutions were scheduled for action.

Selection of the site for the convention next year is one of the final acts of the convention before adjournment. The date will be set later by the executive board.

The Space Revolution: No. 1

Moon Race Benefits For Industry, Military

(First of two dispatches.)

By RAY CROMLEY

NEW ORLEANS — (NEA) — The Industrial Revolution of the 19th century not only changed our way of living but our way of thinking. And today, what can be called the Space Revolution is doing the same thing. Paradoxically, reaching the moon may become a minor benefit of the U.S. space program. The effect of this effort will be felt in industry, medicine, education and national defense. At the Saturn-Apollo moon-trip plants here and in Los Angeles, this judgment is reinforced in many ways:

1. A doctor plays a round of golf with a space engineer on a Saturday afternoon. They discuss how an astronaut's body processes are monitored. The result, a new method of measuring how a man's heart is doing and thus a better way to forestall heart attacks.

2. An ENGINEER working in a space rocket plant is transferred back to his company's civilian products factory. The result, recommendations for a revolutionary new management system that will speed work, lower costs and increase reliability.

3. A psychologist works with space animals, developing methods to teach them what they need to know to operate in space. Result, a new method for the simplified teaching of languages to school children.

Work at a crystal-growing laboratory may result in a complete new family of metals.

THE REAL IMPORTANCE of

4-H News

Goshen Happy Go Lucky

The Goshen Happy Go Lucky 4-H club of Mahoning County Goshen Township met at the home of Mrs. Richard Golo-gran. There were 10 members present. Work on the sewing projects occupied the time. The next meeting will be held July 8 at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Carol Ostrosky. Mrs. Allen Stanley is leader of the group, and Cheryl Arsuffi is secretary.

the space race does not lie in the thousands of new gadgets and improvements in civilian goods that will result from the space effort. Instead, the importance lies in a new attitude now slowly developing through U.S. industry, in the schools, among medical men and the military.

That attitude shows up in these ways:

1. A sharply increased respect for the importance of research and education.

2. An increased tendency in industry, schools and among military offices to latch onto new ideas and better ways of doing things.

3. A new respect for the man who will use his initiative and come out with new thoughts and new ideas, regardless of how much or how little education he may have.

4. A tendency to translate concepts and ways of doing things learned in the space business into other solutions. This trend shows up in a new way of operating a company cafeteria, a radical new method of constructing factory buildings.

TALK TO A young mathematical engineer, an expert on stresses in spacecraft. He might talk for one minute about space. Then his mind and his talk darts to the problems of management, or to a new solution to the parking jam or to new ideas for solving a particular problem in medicine or juvenile delinquency.

The creative demands of the space contest are creating a large group of mentally active men and women whose minds are so stirred up by space they will jump automatically into any new problem at work, home, church or school.

LIKEWISE, an observer at the nation's space plants finds that military payoffs of the space race will be great.

Because of the space program, partial solutions are in sight for the inaccurate problems plaguing the big intercontinental missiles.

The major concern: radiation from enemy nuclear blasts might destroy the electronic function of the big ICBMs; when launched they'd fly erratically and not reach target. Experiments with space satellites carrying sensitive equipment for long periods in high-radiation zones are giving research men new insight on how to deal with this radiation headache.

Research satellites are making it possible to determine the earth's gravitational field with greater accuracy. Gravity has a direct influence on the flight of the ICBMs and must be known precisely along the bird's path in order to achieve the accuracies required.

Findings also provide more accurate ties between existing maps and more precise locations of major points on the globe. This means U.S. intercontinental missiles can be more accurately aimed.

THERE WILL BE other military payoffs:

Knowledge of how to protect Apollo astronauts from space radiation will give military designers some new ideas on how to design battlefield tanks to protect the crew against nuclear radiation.

Concentrated diets being developed for astronauts will provide the know-how for developing light food packs for guerrilla infiltration teams which must travel lean and light.

Development of the Saturn V booster will make it possible for the United States to construct an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of carrying larger warheads.

The work on maneuverability and re-entry will make possible a near-earth military space plane.

Development of sensitive techniques for detection of microbial activities on the moon will assist in developing equipment for the battlefield detection of biological warfare attacks.

Callison's 9th Inning Homer Gives NL 7-4 Triumph

All-Star Series Now Deadlocked At 17-17

NEW YORK (AP) — It took the National League 31 years to draw even with the American in All-Star warfare Tuesday and in the end it was an ex-American Leaguer who did it.

Wondrous Willie Mays, as usual, starred in the field and on the bases. Billy Williams and Ken Boyer smashed home runs. Jim Bunning and Juan Marichal pitched superbly. But the hero of the National's 7-4 triumph was Johnny Callison, who was not even voted on the All-Star team.

Callison, a personal pick by Manager Walter Alston, came up in the bottom of the ninth inning with two out, two on and the score tied at 4-4. He walloped Dick Radatz' first pitch into the second deck over Shea Stadium's right field bullpen to square the All-Star series at 17 victories apiece.

After the 1949 game, the AL led 12-4. The NL has won 13, lost 5 and tied one of the last 19.

The 25-year-old Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, selected by Alston as the 25th man because of the National League's need for left-handed pinch hitting strength, had entered the game in the fifth inning, hitting for pitcher Jim Bunning.

"He beat us enough," said Alston, managing his fourth winning All-Star squad in six attempts. "I figured he owed us something."

In a recent series at Los Angeles, Callison hit two home runs in two games against Alston's Dodgers.

Next to Radatz, the most charged man on the American League squad was Manager Al Lopez, who has yet to be on a winning All-Star squad. He lost four times as a manager, twice as a player and three times as a coach.

"And to think that before the game I shook hands with Johnny and wished him luck," said Lopez.

It was Lopez, who traded Callison, then a 20-year-old Chicago White Sox hopeful, to the Phillies in the winter of 1959 for third baseman Gene Freese.

Callison said he did not get any special pleasure out of beating his old boss.

"I never faulted Lopez for trading me," he said. "I felt then the deal was good for me because I would have more of an opportunity to play with Philadelphia."

Radatz, Boston's brilliant relief pitcher, was invincible in the seventh and eighth innings when he struck out four of the six batters he faced.

The giant right-hander, who has been dubbed "The Monster" by opposing hitters, was nursing a 4-3 lead when Willie Mays opened the ninth by drawing a walk.

Willie, who had contributed two sparkling plays in the field although going hitless, promptly stole second. Orlando Cepeda singled to short right. Mays, holding up because he feared the ball might be caught, could go only as far as third.

Joe Pepitone, after retrieving the ball, fired it to the plate. The ball skidded past the catcher to the screen and Willie slid across the plate with the tying run. Cepeda took second on the throw.

Radatz bore down and disposed of the dangerous Ken Boyer on a pop-up. He walked John Edwards intentionally before fanny pinch hitter Henry Aaron. Then came the fateful pitch to Callison.

Until the final pitch Radatz, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Kansas City's Rocky Colavito had been the heroes. Robinson, who also contributed a fine fielding play at third base, had put the American Leaguers back in the ball game in the sixth inning. With Philadelphia's Chris Short on the mound, Robinson tripled to right center, driving in two runs to tie the score at 3-3.

Colavito, a last hour replacement for the injured Al Kaline, doubled as a pinch hitter in the seventh, moving Elston Howard to third. Howard scored the lead run on Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly.

The victory went to San Francisco's Juan Marichal, fifth NL pitcher, who hurled a scoreless ninth.

A crowd of 50,850, largest All-Star gathering since the 1959 game in Los Angeles, saw 37 players perform, 20 wearing National League uniforms.

Lindgren, Ryun Burn Up Track, Not Selves

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Two high school boys best show what is happening to American track and field.

Gerry Lindgren, an 18-year-old, 115-pound resident of Spokane, ran 5,000 meters in the National AAU Championships in 13:58.6 Bob Schul had to reel off an astonishing 55.4 last quarter to beat him with 13:56.2, a meet record. Schul, 26, has just hung up a new American record of 13.88 in the Compton Relays.

JIM RYUN, a 17-year-old Wichita high school junior, ran 1,500 meters in 3:39 to finish fourth behind only Tom O'Hara, Dyrone Burleson and Jim Grelle in the fastest field at the distance ever assembled anywhere.

Years ago it would have been predicted that boys running as far and as fast as Lindgren and Ryun soon would burn themselves out, but in more recent years doctors and coaches have changed their thinking along this line.

Youngsters setting swimming records at 14-15-16 may have had something to do with this. Bruce Kidd, who came out of Toronto as a whiz kid router, more recently gave authorities additional concrete evidence that they were wrong in assuming a distance runner had to be up in age to get anywhere in particular.

DICK MASON, the veteran Columbia coach, was talking about the remarkable achievements of high school boys. They are pole vaulting 15 feet and high jumping 6-8 regularly, among other achievements.

"Nature is capricious," said Mason. "There is no telling

The American went into the 1964 British Open Championship a 7-2 favorite after having played the 6,926-yard par 72 layout only once.

He shot a 71 Tuesday in wind and rain after doing seven holes the day before.

In the betting, the field of 120 was stretched out behind him, including the defending British Open king, Bob Charles of New Zealand.

Single rounds today and Thursday will reduce the field to the low 45 and ties for the 36-hole windup Friday.

The American challenge led by Nicklaus and Tony Lema spreadeagled the thinking in most quarters. British bookies, who will take almost any bet, were exceedingly wary about home-grown talent.

Among the eight Americans competing was Jimmy Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., who turned 50 just last month.

Bulla, now making a sentimental return to St. Andrews where he finished second twice, was quoted at 100 to 1.

Bulla shot 292 on the old course in 1939, just two shots short of champion Dick Burton.

"Coaches discovered ways of keeping their charges interested and relieving the monotony of training. Athletes who can see they are improving keep going."

"GETTING BACK TO Lindgren and Ryun and Kidd, I repeat they wouldn't be tackling more hardened performers at a tender age unless nature and the coach were positive they could handle the assignment."

Dick Mason went on. "I recall a freshman I coached in high school. He came along so rapidly that he was our No. 2 cross-country man. Didn't bother him a bit."

"In his sophomore year, however, rapid growth sapped his strength. He didn't come back well until he was a senior. So, you see, a boy has to be guided right. What is good for one won't work at all with another."

"But dedicated teen-age kids who run as far and as fast as Lindgren and Ryun will keep right on working. You can imagine what they'll be when they grow up, say at 28 and 30."

"There's lots of talk back East that the 49ers will be last again (in the National Football League) because we made no big trades. But we feel we have filled our spots by getting those men back," said Christiansen, adding the names of safety Jerry Mertens, tackle Charlie Krueger and lineman Walter Rock, all also hurt much of 1963.

"Underdog is the role we'll have this year and I'm looking forward to it," said Christiansen, who is beginning his first full season as head coach.

Brodie broke his arm in an auto accident, then reinjured it early in Christiansen's first game as head coach. Kilmer's leg was broken in a December 1962 auto crash.

Phils Resume Battle For Flag In NL Race Against Cardinals

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
With the mid-summer break over, major league baseball resumes the serious business of pennant races today with two important questions to be answered.

Can the Philadelphia Phillies go all the way in the National League, and is this one of those rare years that the New York Yankees lose the pennant in the American?

Phillie pennant stock got a big boost in Tuesday's All-Star game with the three-run homer by Johnny Callison which broke up the game and two shutout innings by Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning for the NL stars.

Gene Mauch's Phillies get back into action tonight at home against the St. Louis Cardinals. Second place San Francisco is at Chicago for a day double-header and Cincinnati plays at Pittsburgh at night. There are no games scheduled in the American League.

Mauch hopes his club can maintain the momentum it picked up with a three-game sweep of the Giants last weekend that vaulted the Phillies into first place.

Manipulating a team which failed to place a player above third in balloting for the NL All-Star squad, Mauch has gotten tight pitching, a strong defense and clutch hitting from the Phillies.

Much the same qualities have kept the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox in front of the Yankees in the AL.

The Orioles, leading by three games over Chicago and New York in the AL, have gotten power hitting from Boog Powell and outstanding pitching from rookie Wally Bunker.

Bunker has pitched two one-hitters and Powell has 21 home runs, including a string of seven in a stretch of five days last month.

The White Sox have an outstanding record of 44 wins and 20 losses against eight other AL clubs but are 0-10 against New York. Yet Al Lopez' club has managed to bounce back every time it dropped a series to the Yankees and is three percent age points in front of the perennial champions.

With Teams Tied For Class E Lead (8-2)

Bliss Hands CIO 3816 1st
Setback of Campaign 15-9

Bliss rocked pitcher John Paulson and his CIO 3816 mates in Class E junior baseball game at Centennial Park Tuesday.

Fisher News iced its clash with Farmer's Bank with a four-run fifth inning to triumph, while Sekely knocked off Electric Furnace 10-3 in Class A at Memorial Park.

Scott's Sports evened its season record at 6-6 as it edged T 8-7, and Italian Club clipped Bricker's 117 in Class G competition.

Moose scored in every inning nip Jaycees 13-12 in Class H at Buc-eye Field.

Dawson, nursing a 5-3 lead on a two-run fifth inning, was in no trouble in the sixth when he gave up five hits which led to five Bliss runs.

CIO 3816 suffered its first loss in the season after winning eight straight.

With the score tied 8-8, Bob Ozski of the losers came on to pitch in the top of the eighth, but he Luttmers had shut out Bliss in the seventh.

Bliss quickly took charge and came up with seven big runs to kick up its eighth win in nine tries and tie for the lead in Class E.

Key hits in the rally were singles by Gary Stoddard, Rick Lett and Jim Lantz and a double by Rick Hippely.

In the bottom of the eighth, with two away, Tolson, who had two doubles and a single in previous trips to the plate, struck out with the bases loaded.

Metz and Lantz each had a pair of singles to spark Bliss as winners took advantage of five walks and three errors for eight of their runs.

Tolson struck out 10 and walked seven for the CIO 3816, although he was not the losing pitcher. Rozeski suffered the defeat.

Luttmer, and Ron Parolieri each had three hits for the losers.

Consecutive singles by Rusty Torby and Jim Fattler, a triple by Dana Barnes, and an error sandwiched between singles by Jerry Miller and Chuck Jackson gave Fisher's four markers in the fifth against Farmer's Bank. Jackson collected two singles for the winners who chalked up their eighth win in 10 starts.

Ron Albright socked a triple and single, and Charles Jackson collected two singles for Farmers Bank (2-8).

Dan Papic socked a pair of triples and a single, and Jeff Shoff belted a three-base hit and a single to pace Sekely's, which also has an 8-2 record.

Jay Hunston led Electric Furnace (2-1) with a triple.

A walk, an error and singles by Rickie Roberts and Russ Dawson gave Scott's Sports three runs in a come-from-behind effort in the sixth inning against UCT.

Dawson also collected a triple and another single in three trips to the plate for the winners (6-6).

Ken Stein, who hurled the first six innings for Scott's, struck out 14 and walked seven. Losing pitcher Ken Koran fanned 12 and walked four.

Randy Hanzlick paced UCT (6-6) with a pair of singles.

Italian Club (6-6) tallied nine runs in the first two frames, getting seven of the markers in the second inning on a walk, two errors and singles by Earon.

A KNEESY THROW

Position isn't everything in baseball, as Steve Boros proves in this bit of fast action. Stopping a hard grounder, the Cincinnati third baseman was forced into this kneeling position, from which he fired the ball to second, forcing the runner.

Negroes Testing Rights Law Compliance In Trouble Spots

By The Associated Press

While U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy praised what he called nationwide compliance with the Civil Rights Act, Negroes sought to test compliance in cities which have been major trouble spots in the past.

A massive effort at integration shaped up at St. Augustine, Fla., where Negroes said they would test some 30 establishments.

Three groups of Negroes integrated three motels in St. Augustine Tuesday night. There were no incidents.

There was violence at Bessemer, Ala., nine more persons were arrested at Selma, Ala., and a group of national Negro leaders said Sen. Barry Goldwater should see how Negroes live in Mississippi before deciding whether the civil rights law should be enforced by the states.

Kennedy told a conference of U.S. attorneys that general compliance with the civil rights law came about because of President Johnson's leadership.

"He has spoken out," Kennedy declared. "There is confidence in him and confidence in his judgement, and the people have followed him."

At Richmond, Va., two of the federal officials who will be involved in the workings of the law explained to Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia just what they expect to do.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and LeRoy Collins, the man named to head the Community Relations Service under Hodges, said the service would merely act as a conciliation force in any civil rights disputes.

In Washington, Collins told senators he look on his nomination as director of the service as the greatest challenge of his lifetime.

"We approach this with charity and understanding and not with malice toward anyone," he told the Senate Commerce Committee at a hearing on his nomination for the $22,500-a-year job.

A Negro teen-ager said at Bessemer, Ala., that he and four companions were beaten by white men with baseball bats when the Negroes took seats at a white lunch counter. One youth was treated for head cuts. The others apparently were not hurt seriously.

Nine Negro youths were arrested on a variety of charges at Selma, Ala., where a voter registration campaign is under way.

Eleven leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People continued their tour of Mississippi, cracking racial barriers en route, including two plush resort hotels at Bloxi.

The sent a telegram to Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, urging him to visit Mississippi and see conditions under which Negroes live in that state.

Anniversary

Woman Marks End Of Bout With Hiccups

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Today is a happy anniversary for Lucy McDonald. It is the anniversary of her bout with the hiccups.

The 38-year-old red-haired mother of three says she couldn't be happier. The hiccups stopped about a week ago.

Mrs. McDonald received thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls after an Associated Press story described her plight. Most suggested home remedies for curing the hiccups. The remedy which apparently cured her came from a druggist for whom she now works.

The pharmacist, Roy Faith, said: "I just gave her a drug which is commonly used. I cannot say what it was because I am not a physician and I cannot prescribe. The important thing is that she is cured."

Whether the hiccups have gone for good is a question, but Mrs. McDonald says this is the longest period of time she has been able to breathe with ease in a year.

"You can't imagine how thankful I am," she said. "It is such a little thing to be able to breathe without hiccuping. This was the worst year of my life."

Mrs. McDonald was a waitress until she lost her job because waitresses aren't supposed to hiccup constantly.

She tried several other jobs. Each time she was discharged because of the hiccups.

She now works behind the soda fountain in the drug store.

Ohio Teen-agers Continue Canoe Trip to N. Orleans

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Three Ohio teen-agers objects of a futile search south of the Missouri town Tuesday — planned to continue their canoe trip down the Mississippi River toward New Orleans today.

The search began Monday night when some of the boys' possessions were found along the riverbank by a fisherman and their canoe was missing. The Pemiscot County sheriff's office continued the search throughout much of the night and day until it was radioed from downstream that the boys were sighted and safe.

A check by authorities in Tennessee showed they had spent the night in a Caruthersville motel, and had apparently lost or forgotten some equipment. The sheriff's office is holding that equipment for them. It includes a clothes bag, sleeping bags, two guns and a bilfold.

The boys, all from Strasburg in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, are Bill Malcuit, 17; Terry Spidell, 18, and Jim Econbarger, 19.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Last night one of my customers from here in Columbiana was telling me that she had been on a tour in Hanoverton which included a trip through Mrs. Ovie Cole's Spread Eagle Tavern. She thought it was such an interesting place.

Mrs. Cole recently has added a shop where she sells reproduction glass ware. I haven't been down to see her shop yet, maybe I will get there this week.

Her son-in-law Howard, who works with us here at the Country Store, and I are going to make a trip down into North Carolina this week.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing about the woman who was fearful that her popularity was based on a rare talent for passing on gossip. She signed her letter "Blbbermouth" and closed by saying, "I don't like myself very much today." May I add something which may be of value?

When I was a child I overheard a friend of my mother's confiding an intimate family problem. Mother saw me standing behind the door — listening. She said nothing.

After the woman left, mother called me to the sewing room to have a little talk. She started by saying, "Son, if a friend left a pocketbook or a wallet in our house you wouldn't give away her money, would you?" I replied, "Of course not."

Mother continued, "Well, today a friend left something in our home which is far more precious than money. It is her secret. If we give it away it would hurt her terribly. We would be hurting ourselves, too, because we always end up sad when we do things that make other people unhappy."

I never told a soul what I heard that day. My mother's words made such an impression on me that to this day I have never passed on one bit of gossip. Keeping my mouth shut has become a way of life.

I have profited from this lesson which I learned early in life. Perhaps this is why I have maintained so many lasting and cherished friendships. — OLD LOCK JAW.

Dear O.L.J.: What a wise and wonderful mother you had! Not only was her philosophy sound, but she had an effective way of teaching you personal integrity. Thank you for sharing her wisdom with us.

Suspicious Wife

Dear Ann: My husband was sent to a large city 300 miles away to set up a new office for his firm. His assistant is with him and they share an apartment. I've never met his assistant but I've heard he is extremely handsome and a wild man with the women.

I wrote to my husband recently and asked if his assistant was married. He replied, "I don't stick my nose into other people's business. I wouldn't ask the guy if he is married and he wouldn't ask me such a personal question, either."

This got me to thinking. My husband hasn't been home in six weeks. (He promised to get home every other weekend.) Since when are a wife and five children considered "to personal to talk about?"

I have a hunch these two are living it up — like bachelors. Maybe I've been alone too much and I'm getting a little nutty. Please set me straight. — CURTAIN OF DOUBT.

Dear Curtain: I agree you've been alone too much — but you are far from nutty to wonder what's going on.

If your husband doesn't come home next weekend, make arrangements to have someone stay with the children so you can go visit him and have a nice little talk.

these homes. The owner came out and said, "You'll have to move. This space is reserved for our friends." I moved.

Does she have the right to reserve the parking places in front of her home? She says she does because she is a homeowner. Right?—VAL.

Dear Val: Wrong. The woman may own the home, but she doesn't own the street. You have as much right to park in front of her house as she does. If she doesn't believe you, she can ask the chief of police.

Nurse Knows

Dear Ann: I never laughed so hard as when I read what you wrote about school nurses. Let me tell you how it looks from the students' point of view.

If a school nurse ever sent a kid home because he complained about not feeling well you can be sure the kid was more dead than alive—he probably suffered a heart attack. Every student I know who ever went to the school nurse was asked first if he had a test scheduled in the next hour. If the answer was "Yes," the kid was ordered back to class even if he had to be carried on a stretcher.

And then there is aspirin and green soap. School nurses seem to think aspirin and green soap will cure anything from an ingrown toenail to a broken neck.

So please get with it, Ann, and don't tell mothers that the school nurse will send their sick kids home. It won't happen. —B.L.

Dear B.: Too bad the school nurses are on to all the tricks, isn't it? One thing you kids don't dig is this: Every school nurse was once in high school — as a student.

Cyclone Treatment

Dear Ann: Our 14-year-old was totally deaf to my pleas to hang up her clothes and put things where they belonged. I was beside myself whenever guests were expected. I used to lock Joan's bedroom door to make sure no one would wander in by mistake and see the mess. A friend told me how she solved the problem with her teen-ager and I'd like to pass it on because it worked for me, too. I took the pillows off Joan's bed, tossed them on the floor, rolled the blanket into a ball, took the sheets half off and turned the mattress crosswise against the springs. The room looked as if a twister had hit.

When Joan came home and saw the bed she came running down the stairs shrieking, "mother, what happened to my room?" I replied, "Nothing. I decided the bed ought to look like the rest of the room."

I've never again had to speak to her about keeping her bedroom in order. —B.B.C.

Dear Mrs.: Lovely idea, and glad it worked in your house. I'm afraid in some homes, the teen-ager would scarcely notice the difference.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In Mbereshi, Northern Rhodesia, 30 per cent to 50 per cent of the children in the region known as the Valley of the Blind die before reaching the age of ten. In addition to blindness and hookworm, malaria is widespread there, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.
